

Thanks for your support...

To Our Valued Customers and Suppliers...

As we near the holiday season, we want to thank you for your confidence in Copresco.

In 2002, we celebrated our 15th year of digital leadership—no small feat in these difficult economic times.

National Leadership

During the year, we have told you about our recognition as the Top Digital Printer in North America and our APEX awards of excellence for our informative publications and fast-acting website.

Copresco's full service bindery gained national attention in a Printing Impressions magazine feature article discussing the wide range of binding styles available for your digital jobs.

Following are additional highlights of Copresco's 15th year of digital printing service.

Technical Advancements

To help customers and visitors obtain valuable information and technical resources faster and easier, we completely revised and updated our website links area. Links are provided for computer software, patches and fixes, virus protection and other helpful tools.

We made giant strides in 2002 to improve the quality and productivity of our digital color work.

You now have a source for short-run digital color that matches the world-class reputation of Copresco's black and white services.

Continuing our high-tech pursuits, we beta-tested a RIP/controller for digital color presses. Copresco was selected for the experimental project because of our expertise and in-depth experience in digital technology.

Tech Talk

Readership of TechTopics, our technical bulletin series, and our flagship publication, Overnight Lite, continued to grow.

Maintaining our promise to give you solid technical information, we printed Lite articles on the principles of on-demand printing and index tab divider applications.

Our two-part series on virus protection featured Copresco's "Ten Commandments for Fighting Deadly Viruses" and website addresses for major antivirus software firms.

We also published four new or updated issues of TechTopics for you.

What's Ahead

Once again, we thank you for another good year. You are responsible for our continued success.

Copresco is firmly committed to the continual advancement of digital printing technology, exceptional quality and fast turnaround of your on-demand jobs.

Those Were the Days

Our reminiscing has taken us from opening day, October 19, 1987, through the development of our digital network, our first docutech purchase, the move to our new plant and our name change to Copresco.

We conclude our 15-year anthology, by welcoming back "Virginia" for a 5th anniversary in Overnight Lite.

The Sept. 21, 1887 editorial in the New York Sun answers 8-year-old Virginia's question, "Is There a Santa Claus?"

You will find the classic on our website, along with opportunities to help people in need and join a humanitarian crusade for the global eradication of polio.

Happy Holidays

We will be closed Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and New Year's Day. We'll be open New Year's Eve.

Best wishes for a joyful holiday season from the Copresco staff.

In the bustle of holiday shopping, a woman discovered her handbag was missing. Minutes later an honest little boy returned it to her. "That's funny," she said as she checked its contents, "when I lost my bag there was a $20 bill in it. Now there are twenty $1 bills."

"It's okay—that was me, lady," the boy quickly replied. "The last time I found a purse, the owner didn't have change for a reward."

Polite responses for ugly gifts:

1. "This'll be perfect for wearing around the basement!"

2. "Gosh. I hope this never catches fire! It is fire season, though."
3. "If the dog buries it, I'll be furious!"
4. "I love it, but I fear the jealousy it will inspire."
5. "Sadly, tomorrow I enter the Witness Protection Program."

6. "And to think I got this the year I vowed to donate all my gifts to charity!"

7. "I really don't deserve this."

The preacher pulled a church visitor aside. "You need to join the Army of the Lord!"

"I'm already in the Army of the Lord, Pastor," the man replied.

"Well then," the pastor said, "How come I only see you at Christmas and Easter?"

The visitor whispered ominously, "Secret Service."

"What are you charged with?" the judge asked the defendant.

"Doing my holiday shopping too early," the man replied.

"That's no offense," said the judge. "How early?"

The prisoner mumbled, "Before the store opened."

Bill Clinton is getting $12 million for his memoirs. Hillary got $8 million for hers. Between the two of them, that is $20 million for two people who, for eight years, "had no recollection."

Q: How many Freudians does it take to change a lightbulb?

A: Two—one to change the bulb and the other to hold my mother...er, I mean the ladder.

A man with the gift of healing approached three sad-faced gentlemen on a park bench. "What's troubling you, brother?" he asked of the first man.

"It's my eyes," the man lamented. "I keep getting stronger and stronger glasses, but I can't see."

The healer simply touched the man's face, and with a blink the man ran outside to tell the world about his perfect vision.

The next gentleman couldn't hear the healer's questions, but with a gentle touch to his ears, the man's hearing was restored. He too ran off to proclaim his miracle to the world.

The third man jumped up before the healer even got near him. "Don't touch me!" he screamed, "I'm on disability!"
