Copresco will continue to strive for perfection in all facets of the work that we do for you.

Happy Holidays

We wish you a most happy holiday season and look forward to sharing a prosperous 2014 with you.

'Twas the Night Before...

We were just turning out the lights and heading for the door when the frantic call came in.

The church secretary was desperate and had been calling quick print shops all over town.

Copier Crisis

Her copy machine had jammed, and she couldn't print the Christmas Eve bulletin. And, it was an eight-page 8 1/2" x 11" piece that required collating, folding and stitching.

A Better Tactic

All this turmoil could have been prevented by planning ahead and calling a professional printer—first.

When you're dealing with a crucial project, it just makes sense to do yourself a favor and deal with professionals that have the experience and know-how to serve you effectively.

Ho, Ho, Ho

So, when you're in a terrible jam and need copies in a real big hurry, you can always count on Copresco.

But, we'd rather you not wait until late...on the night before Christmas.

Our Holiday Plans

Copresco will also be closed on Tuesday, December 24 for Christmas Eve and Wednesday, Christmas Day, as well as on Wednesday, January 1, for New Year's Day.

Q. What do you call the fear of getting stuck in a chimney?

A. Santaclaustrophobia.

A little boy wanted $100 very badly, and prayed and prayed for two weeks. Nothing happened, so he decided to write Santa a letter requesting the $100. Postal workers were so touched by the little boy's letter that they took up a collection and raised $50. They forwarded the money to the boy and signed the note, "Santa Claus." Two weeks later the crew received this letter: "Dear Santa, thank you for sending me money. Just so you know, the creeps at the Post Office kept half of it."

"When my son starts working here Monday morning," the boss said to the senior executives, "I want you to treat him just as you would treat any other new employee who was going to take over the company in two years."

Jonathan remembers the time he and his father were in the toy store on Christmas Eve. Dad said, "What a marvelous train set. I'll buy it." The girl behind the counter looked pleased and murmured, "Great, I'm sure your son will really love it." Dad replied with a glint in his eye, "maybe you're right. In that case I'll take two."

"Ladies and gentlemen, I have good news and bad news," the captain's voice crackled over the airplane loudspeaker. "The bad news: The temperature in Minneapolis is 21 degrees below zero. The good news is that due to strong winter headwinds our arrival will be 20 minutes late."

Q. What do lions sing at Christmas?

A. Jungle bells!

"People with no vices usually have some pretty annoying virtues."
—Elizabeth Taylor

Q. How do you know that Santa is a man?

A. No woman wears the same attire every year.

I figure I've been a successful parent if my children grow up and are able to afford their own psychoanalysis.
