

Copies Overnight

June 1998

Vol. 9, No. 6

Copies Overnight Continues to Expand...

New Distribution Center Adds Inventory Capability

Copies Overnight has opened a new distribution center at 275 Commonwealth Drive, Carol Stream.

The 5,000 sq. ft. building provides space for inventories of our customers' printed materials as well as hand bindery and shipping operations. The facility is located close to our digital printing plant and networked with the our computerized production control system.

Improved Customer Service

The new center is part of a continuing program to improve customer services and increase operational efficiency, says president Steve Johnson. "The additional space significantly increases our inventory control capabilities and our facilities for packaging, drop shipping and distribution of looseleaf and bound documents."

What You Need Is What You'll Get

Some folks may think the only paper we run is a 20 lb. sulfite, the type used in most copying machines.

That's hardly the case. At Copies Overnight, you'll get the exact paper you need to make your documents look their best. We work with the largest paper suppliers in the Chicago area. We receive deliveries twice a day and can get special orders the same day...even at night!

On the Floor

For example, in book grade papers, we stock Cougar Opaque Offset on our floor in 50, 60, 70 and 80 lb. basis weights and 60 lb. Eastern Opaque Offset in both standard U.S. and the popular A-3 and A-4 metric sizes. And we have immediate access to virtually any uncoated bond, book, index and cover stock in a wide range of weights and colors. Colored papers add pizzazz to your job. Heavier stocks are used for cover bindings, dividers or tab sections that make your documents easy to manage.

Coated Stock?

What about coated papers? This subject requires more extensive discussion. Details about coated papers and Docutech imaging are included in Bulletin No. 4 of TechTopics, our technical information series. Please fax or E-mail us for your free subscription...or visit our website at www.onight.com/techttop.htm.

Call Us for Help

The right paper stock can add a professional touch to any document. Our experienced staff will help you make the right choice.

At the Top of the Class

Copies Overnight has received a Top of the Class award from the Printing Industries of America for the ongoing educational development of our staff.

The award designates Copies Overnight as a 1997 Education Company for participating in three consecutive years of PIA educational programs.

"The goal of this program is to encourage superior customer service through the professional development of your staff. Your investment in educational enrichment identifies your company as an advocate for learning, growth and the future of the printing industry," said Mary Garnett, PIA director of education and training.

Active Participation

"Keeping up-to-date with industry trends and new technology is essential in our rapidly changing digital printing field," president Steve Johnson says. "We are pleased to be recognized for our continuing staff training and development efforts."

Copies Overnight is active in other PIA educational programs. Steve is a member of the Digital Communications Project Team. The national task force is helping printers make the transition to digital printing.

Steve is also a member of PIA's sales and marketing advisory council and an advisory editor for the organization's national newsletter dealing with digital technology topics.

We have also received two PIA Premier Print Awards within the last two years. The awards program is known throughout the graphic arts industry as the most prestigious competition honoring excellence in print.

Phone: (630) 690-2044 • Fax: (630) 690-8182

E-Mail: lite@onight.com

www.onight.com

Using tomorrow's technology today.

Copies Overnight will be closed Friday, July 3 for Independence Day.

Have a great 4th of July weekend!

294 Carlton Drive
Carol Stream, IL 60188-2406

Address Correction Requested

Aliens were visiting Earth and split up in order to learn more. When they rejoined at the end of the day one alien told of a strange ceremony he had seen. "It's a very sacred ritual they call baseball," he began. "They gather in a large green building shaped like a meteorite crater, with a diamond painted in the dirt. Around the edges, thousands of worshippers gather. Two groups dress in royal costumes, shake hands, cover their hearts and sing a hymn of loyalty. Then one picks up a ceremonial wooden staff and another tries to hit it with a white leather orb."

"Then what happens?" the other curious aliens asked.

"Then," the intrepid explorer continued, "it rains."

~ ~

The Canadian Olympic Snowboarding team's new motto:

"STRONGER, FASTER, HIGHER."

The Boston Globe reports that the local transit authority computers face a year 2000 problem, where they won't recognize the shorthand "00" date as year 2000. It goes on to report, "The board directors approved a five-year program to fix the problem."

~ ~

"Papa!" a little boy exclaimed as he raced proudly to his frugal father. "Today I saved a dollar!"

"Congratulations, son!" the miserly parent beamed. "Tell me, how did you save that dollar?"

"I was going to take the bus downtown, but I decided it was too expensive. So I ran behind it all the way, and saved one dollar."

"That's a good boy," the father encouraged him. "But next time do what I do and run behind a taxi. That way you can save thirty dollars!"

"When women are depressed they either eat or go shopping. Men invade another country."

—Elayne Boosler

~ ~

I know I think too much, but why do they always report power outages on TV?

~ ~

Do not marry a person that you know you can live with. Only marry someone that you know you cannot live without.

~ ~

Yesterday my daughter asked me, "Daddy, before you got married to Mommy, who told you how to drive?"

~ ~

Q: What do the Chicago Cubs baseball players and Michael Jackson have in common?

A: They wear a glove for no apparent reason.

~ ~

"If the people don't want to come out to the park, nobody's going to stop 'em."

—Yogi Berra

~ ~

From a church bulletin:
"Whoever borrowed the paper cutter from the office, please return it. Without it the sermons will be longer."

Scientists are now gathering blood samples from all of the Olympic female figure skaters. The scientists are planning to create The Ice Queen Clones.

~ ~

"What do I have in my hand?" a preacher asked during the weekly children's sermon.

"A baseball!" a boy piped up.

"What does it make you think of?" the clergyman continued.

"God!" answered one little girl enthusiastically.

"Um—why does a baseball remind you of God?" asked the surprised preacher.

"Well," explained the girl, "I know you didn't come up here to talk baseball."

~ ~

Alimony: bounty on the mutiny.