

Adding more muscle to the fleet...

Copresco Upgrades To Guarantee On-Time Delivery

Copresco is putting a second Konica-Minolta digital press into production.

The twin brother of the 6136P that we installed in late 2020 strengthens our high-speed production capacity and provides exceptional black & white print reproduction.

Rigid Testing

"The new press is going through the same rigorous testing to assure our high volume black & white printing matches Copresco's award-winning color work" says President Steve Johnson.

Our High Standards

"The people at Konica-Minolta are amazed by the work we put their machines through to assure they meet our high quality standards and ability to maintain our Copies Overnight promise of producing 250,000 pages overnight for any client," Steve added.

Inline Stitching

The new press offers inline saddle stitching for up to 80-page booklets and can handle multiple paper stocks and weights.

Precise tone controls are included to allow the creation of halftone curves "on the fly," a feature normally only found on full color presses but required by Copresco for our unparalleled monochrome work.

Another APEX Award

Copresco's Overnight Lite newsletter has won another APEX Award for editorial excellence.

Guest Author

The Award was given for Copresco's April/May 2020 issue with an article by Earl J. Wilkinson, executive director of International News Media Association in Dallas, Texas.

The article reported the good news that there were zero incidents of Covid transmission from printed publications.

"There has never been a documented incident whereby the virus has been transmitted from a print newspaper, print magazine, print letter, or print package according to the world's top doctors and scientists."

Combines Wit and Wisdom

The company's flagship publication, Overnight Lite has been published and mailed continuously for more than 30 years. The newsletter combines humor with product and technical information and general news.

Large Audience

Over 2000 clients and prospects receive the publication that is digitally printed in-house in full color.

Top-Notch Communications

Copresco has won multiple APEX Awards for our exceptional marketing communications from Communications Concepts, Inc.

Awards are based on excellence in graphic design, editorial content and the ability to achieve overall communications excellence.

Copresco President Steve Johnson has won several APEX Awards for his printing industry magazine columns.

In With New, Out With Old

In the photo above, a technician works on the setup and installation of our second Konica-Minolta 6136P digital printing press.

Enhancements

The new system significantly enhances Copresco's printing quality and production efficiency for printing your black & white books, manuals, catalogs and publications.

Ready to Go

In the photo below, Steve Johnson and John Ruder look over the decommissioned Kodak Digimaster press that is being removed to make room for Copresco's second Konica-Minolta 6136P system.

Digital On-Demand Printing

262 Commonwealth Drive
Carol Stream, IL 60188

Address Correction Requested

A certain preacher was a golf fanatic and played every spare moment he had. One Sunday morning was so bright and beautiful that he grew obsessed with the idea of playing a few rounds. He called in sick to the church, then drove three hours to a course where nobody would know him. As he teed up at the first hole, an angel looked down at him and frowned, "God, look who's skipping church. You're going to have to punish him." "Indeed," replied God. As the preacher swung his club, the ball lifted perfectly into the air, sailing four hundred effortless yards, dropping straight into the hole. "What kind of punishment was that?" the angel huffed. "You gave him a hole-in-one!" "Think about it," replied God. "Who can he tell?"

When asked whether he had graduated in the upper half of his class, the job applicant eagerly responded, "Sir, I graduated in that section of the class that makes the upper half possible."

A reporter asked baseball great Ty Cobb, who had a lifetime batting average of .367, how well he thought he might do against today's pitchers. He replied, "About .290, maybe .300." "Because of all the new pitches, like the slider?" the reporter asked. "No," answered Cobb, "because I'm 70."

A woman walking in the park stopped when she came upon an old man crying on a park bench. "What's the matter? Can I help?" "I celebrated my 85th birthday yesterday," the man explained between sobs, "and on the same day, I won six million dollars in the lottery. I paid off my house and all my debts and put a down payment on a fantastic new home. A beautiful woman begged me to marry her and promised to make me the happiest man alive, so I said "okay." "Incredible," exclaimed the woman. "So what's the problem?" He burst into tears again. "I can't remember where I live!"

I once asked an economist for her phone number—she gave me an estimate.

A minister hosting a garden party was horrified to realize he had forgotten to invite one of the regularly attending church ladies. He immediately phoned her and begged her to attend. "It's too late," she said. "I already prayed for rain."

Q. How do you mend a broken jack-o-lantern?

A. With a pumpkin patch!

Rumor has it that at one point Harry Truman decreed he would only speak with a one-armed economist. "Why?" asked the bewildered cabinet chiefs. "Because," he answered sourly, "I don't want to hear one more of them say, "...but on the other hand..."

Overnight Lite is published monthly by Copresco for the edification and amusement of our clients and friends.

Subscriptions: Subscriptions to Overnight Lite are complimentary and available only within the United States of America. To subscribe, visit www.copresco.com/lite.htm

Submissions: Reader comments, suggestions and submissions of both humorous and technical material are welcomed. Submissions will be fully credited if requested.

Postmaster: Send address corrections to Copresco's Overnight Lite, 262 Commonwealth Dr., Carol Stream, IL 60188

Copyright: All contents ©2020 Copresco. All rights reserved.
ISSN 1930-2274

Copresco
262 Commonwealth Drive
Carol Stream, IL 60188-2449
phone (630) 690-2000 fax (630) 690-8182
<http://www.copresco.com>